

I would appreciate if the FCC could stop focusing on matters of "decency" i.e., what people like Howard Stern and Bill Maher can and cannot say, and start focusing on providing the American people with a wider range of media, not just the stuff that large corporation want us to see. The FCC is supposed to be serving the public. So stop being influenced by right-wing initiatives and start being influenced by the First Amendment!